| Course Title: | A-Level: Drama and Theatre |
| Subject: | Drama and Theatre |
| Qualification: | A-Level - H459 |
| Exam Board: | OCR |
| General Course Description | <ul style="list-style-type: none">● OCR A-Level Drama & Theatre● 2 Year Course● 5 Teaching hours per week● Specialist and experienced teaching staff● 4 Components taught over the 2 years● 40% of the A-Level is completed by the end of Year 12● Opportunities to visit the theatre and attend workshops with industry professionals● A balance of practical components alongside written components that are taught through practical exploration Studying Drama and Theatre opens a door to the wider world. You will not only develop a new and deeper understanding of performance methods and practices, but also experience working within a company of like minded theatre makers who embrace the arts and the impact this can have on the world around us. This course is practice-led, so you will be writing, directing, performing and exploring - using your mind and body creatively together. You will study modules that will push you as a creative and lead you to become a theatre practitioner, an expert in your field. This course is designed so you can make the kind of performances you want to see in the world. Both the devising and text performance modules allow you to explore styles that interest you as well as applying contemporary contexts to create meaningful new work. The course emphasises contemporary performance practice, so you are encouraged to respond to social and political events you feel passionate about or want to develop a deeper understanding of. |

|-----------------------------------|--|
| | The course requires you to work alongside others and create companies who are immersed in the work they are creating. You will recognise the energy and joy of being in a performance space which will mean pushing boundaries and taking risks through teacher led and independent rehearsal. The course will allow you to visit the theatre and expose you to new ways of approaching performance. You will be encouraged to explore the creative arts independently as we ready you for the next step into higher education or a career. Drama and Theatre is a great choice for those wishing to pursue a career in the arts or performance. However, many past students choose the course because of the fantastic skills base you will develop which transcends so many roles in later life. |
| Course Content and Teaching Units | The course is divided into 4 components: Practitioners in practice 40% of the A-Level This component is designed to allow learners to explore practically the work of theatre practitioners and to use the skills gained to explore text and create devised theatre. Exploring and performing texts 20% of the A-Level The aim of this component is to use acting skills to communicate the meaning in a performance text to an audience. Analysing performance 20% of the A-Level This component consists of two sections. The aim of Section A is to enable learners to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of how extracts from the chosen texts can be rehearsed and interpreted in performance, showing an awareness of characterisation, performance style, genre and context. The aim of Section B is to allow learners to analyse and evaluate live theatre. Deconstructing texts for performance 20% of the A-Level Learners will interpret and explore practically a performance text considering how to create, develop and direct a performance for an audience. Please see Miss Broadhead if you wish to discuss the course content further. |
